INT. OFFICE - DAY

Jess sits at the receptionist desk when Kenny approaches.

KENNY

Jess, can I talk to you about something?

(JESS)

My roommate borrowed my jacket and that's why I smell like weed. You know me, I'm a professional. I would never do something like that in the workplace.

KENNY

I don't care if people smoke pot in the office.

(JESS)

Oh, in that case, I am soooo baked. I mean, borderline hallucinating. I'm not even sure if this conversation is actually happening.

KENNY

The thing I want to talk to you about is Charlotte.

(JESS)

Is she pregnant?

KENNY

What? No, of course not.

(JESS)

Ah, because she's on the pill.

KENNY

No, because she's sixteen.

(JESS)

And? Kenny, I hate to break it to you, but the only thing 16-year-olds do these days is have sex.

KENNY

That's not true.

(JESS)

Come on, who would know better?
Someone like me who was a teenager
just a couple years ago, or someone like you who was a teenager in the... I'm gonna say 30's?

KENNY

80's.

(JESS)

80's? I'm sorry, I meant no offense. I just assumed you were a lot older because of the way you look.

KENNY

Could we get back to my Charlotte issue?

(JESS)

Of course. I'm here to help.
Please, share your problem.

KENNY

Well, as you know--

(JESS)

Actually, could we pick this up at another time?

KENNY

What? Why?

(JESS)

Well, it's just, I have the feeling that you're going to go on and on and... can I be perfectly honest?

KENNY

Of course.

(JESS)

I'm not really that interested.

KENNY

Oh, okay.

(JESS)

You're upset?

KENNY

Well, a little.

(JESS)

See, that's why I'm single. I only care about myself, and not the dumb problems other people have.

KENNY

Really, Jess, I'm not that upset.

(JESS)

Well I am. I'm upset that I made you upset. And you know what that makes me want to do?

KENNY

Apologize?

(JESS)

I was going to say "smoke more weed", but I guess your way makes sense, too.

KENNY

I'm going to go now.

He starts to go.

(JESS)

Okay, good talking to you. Glad I could help.

(then, calling off)

Hey, next time you swing by my desk, could you bring me some Doritos? I've got some serious munchies.
